

Working With Glass

There are many different aspects of working with glass such as: leaded stained glass (as in church windows); etching; copper foiling; fusing; slumping; mosaics; painting and blowing. This may not be an exhaustive list. I have a studio and a kiln for the group's use. Those with some, or no, knowledge of any of these processes are very welcome to join the group and have fun with glass creating their own unique works of art. Apart from glass blowing Kathy and Alison have some experience in all of these aspects.
